3, rue de Monthoux

Assignment: A Play

Leader: Marlene

We definitely felt winter in the air as we met in the Library's Reading Room. Once cosily installed we were happy to meet before the holiday season and for the last time in 2018.

Those in attendance were Rose (leader), Marlene (secretary), Eva and Zinat.

We received apologies from Zsofia.

Business:

Rose welcomed everyone and we discussed the success of the last Book Sale of the Library. She reminded everyone that as usual, there is no meeting in December.

Without further ado we set down our dates and decided on topics and its leaders for the coming year.

As there was no further business to attend to, we proceeded to reading our different views on the assigned topic for the month: Nature.

Reading:

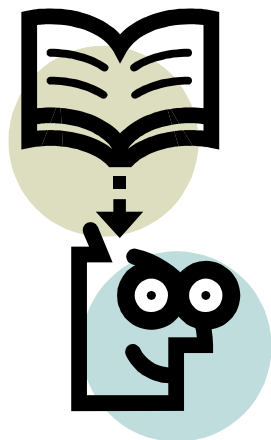

Nature brought out various sides and views as represented by each of us, but the common thread was its beauty in reality.

Rose began with On the Horizon her reminiscence of their stay in Brighton watching the sunset and sunrise. The sight reminded her of master pieces by Turner and Constable.

Eva followed with a beautiful piece Ruminations on Nature describing the gift and essence of nature.

Marlene then read three poems depicting the depth and force of nature, ending with a poem on how our skies influence our lives.

Zinat ended our reading reminding us that nature in reality as opposed to that on a computer screen is of much greater value.
